5 YEAR OLD SELLS LEMONADE AT “MEET ME” FESTIVAL FOR BOCA HELPING HANDS

BOCA RATON, FL, Monday, March 05, 2007– Boca Helping Hands benefits from a big hearted little 5 year old. After hearing about Boca Helping Hands in her Girl Scout Daisy meeting last November, Maren Saunders decided that she wanted to help others “like those who don’t always have food for dinner”. So she decided to set up a lemonade stand at the end of Royal Palm Plaza during the “Meet Me” Arts and Crafts Festival this past weekend.

As a result of her generosity, Boca Helping Hands received $79.00. “She wanted to help people less fortunate who needed help. We are very proud of her, I hope she never changes.” said her mother, Rachel Saunders. “I am always so pleased to see that children in our area understand that when we have abundance in our lives, we should be willing to give help to others. Maren and her family are wonderful examples of this,” said Linda Gove, Executive Director of Boca Helping Hands.

Boca Helping Hands serves families in our community in crisis with a food program and limited financial assistance. Our focus on job mentoring and job placement is a vital part of helping people break the cycle of dependence on social services.
